NOTES-

New Homework: differentiated homework will begin coming home next week. There are instructions for each different set of skills that your child may be working on. These are fluency practice pages, therefore your child will be working on the same set of each skill all 4 nights of homework. Please read the directions carefully and let me know if you have any questions.

*Note- some of this HW may be difficult the first night, but please know with the fluency homework, the students will be timed at the same activity each night of the week; therefore it should become easier each night.

I am applying for a Raz Kids membership for our class. I'm awaiting approval from PTO- once this is approved, we will begin using this website in class and students will have access to it at home as well. They can use this website as part of their 15 minutes of reading each night. More information to come :)
