Arizona Earn to Learn - New Program! (applies to ASU, NAU & UofA)		The AZ Earn to Learn IDA program is a savings strategy and multi-faceted financial education program designed to help provide low to moderate income residents with the opportunity, incentive, and institutional support necessary for them to save for post-secondary education (College). An Individual Development Account, or IDA, is a special matched savings account for people with low incomes. These accounts are designed to help families and individuals of modest means establish a pattern of regular saving and, ultimately, purchase a "productive asset," in this case post-secondary education. If you want to further your education or save for your children's tuition expenses, you must save a total of $500 in your IDA savings account. A "savings match" is a promise to supplement your saving deposits at a specific rate. The AZEL program will offer an 8:1 savings match, meaning that for every dollar you save as part of the program, you will then be eligible to receive another eight dollars. So when you save $500 throughout the course of the program and meet all the other program requirements and partner university conditions and requirements, you will be eligible for $4,000 match. You will then have a total of $4,500 to apply to tuition and other approved college related expenses. This program is available through ASU, U of A, NAU. They will award as many as they have the funds for - which is a lot!!!

Arizona Earn to Learn - New Program! (applies to ASU, NAU & UofA)		The AZ Earn to Learn IDA program is a savings strategy and multi-faceted financial education program designed to help provide low to moderate income residents with the opportunity, incentive, and institutional support necessary for them to save for post-secondary education (College). An Individual Development Account, or IDA, is a special matched savings account for people with low incomes. These accounts are designed to help families and individuals of modest means establish a pattern of regular saving and, ultimately, purchase a "productive asset," in this case post-secondary education. If you want to further your education or save for your children's tuition expenses, you must save a total of $500 in your IDA savings account. A "savings match" is a promise to supplement your saving deposits at a specific rate. The AZEL program will offer an 8:1 savings match, meaning that for every dollar you save as part of the program, you will then be eligible to receive another eight dollars. So when you save $500 throughout the course of the program and meet all the other program requirements and partner university conditions and requirements, you will be eligible for $4,000 match. You will then have a total of $4,500 to apply to tuition and other approved college related expenses. This program is available through ASU, U of A, NAU. They will award as many as they have the funds for - which is a lot!!!

WICHE - Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE)	http://www.wiche.edu/wue/students	Arizona's participation in the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) provides the opportunity for students to attend a public college, at the undergraduate level outside Arizona, at a reduced level of tuition (150% of the host institution's resident tuition.) The WICHE member states are: Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. Interested applicants should check the WICHE website at: http://www.wiche.edu/wue/students to search participating institutions by program of study. Interested applicants should contact the institution of choice and indicate that they would like to apply as a Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) applicant. There is not a separate WUE application. WUE is a decentralized program and the applicant applies directly to the college of choice. The WICHE Regional Office and/or the participating WICHE states are not involved in the admission process. However, if students have generic questions, they may contact the WICHE Regional Office in Boulder, Colorado at 303-541-0210 or the Arizona Board of Regents WICHE Certifying Office at 602-229-2500.
