How Parents Can Help with Math...

- Encourage Math Facts Practice DAILY
- Refer to the online Math book for examples/practice.
- Word problems, especially “word” problems, may seem very complicated and advanced. Students will need support thinking about these ideas before they begin to solve:
 - What they know about the problem
 - What they know about the answer
 - Whether this looks like a problem they have seen before

If frustration sets in STOP and write a note on the homework. Then we will know what to help with or reteach.

Reading Program-

The Daily 5

Houghton Mifflin Harcourt- weekly units

(Text book & tools are accessible on-line- through Infinite Campus)

Lit Studies

Independent Reading- contracts and projects (book reports)

Literature response forms, etc.

Language Arts

- Grammar and writing skills
- Six trait writing
- Reading Responses
- Thinking Maps
- Spelling

How Parents Can Help with Reading...

- Help students plan ahead for book report projects.
- Check the parent update page for vocabulary and spelling words weekly. (Sign up for E alerts!)
- Have your child read (anything) aloud several times weekly.
- If you are interested in volunteering to read with students, please see us after the presentation.

Science

- Plants/animal classification
 - Electricity
 - Weather
- Science Fair Projects

Social Studies

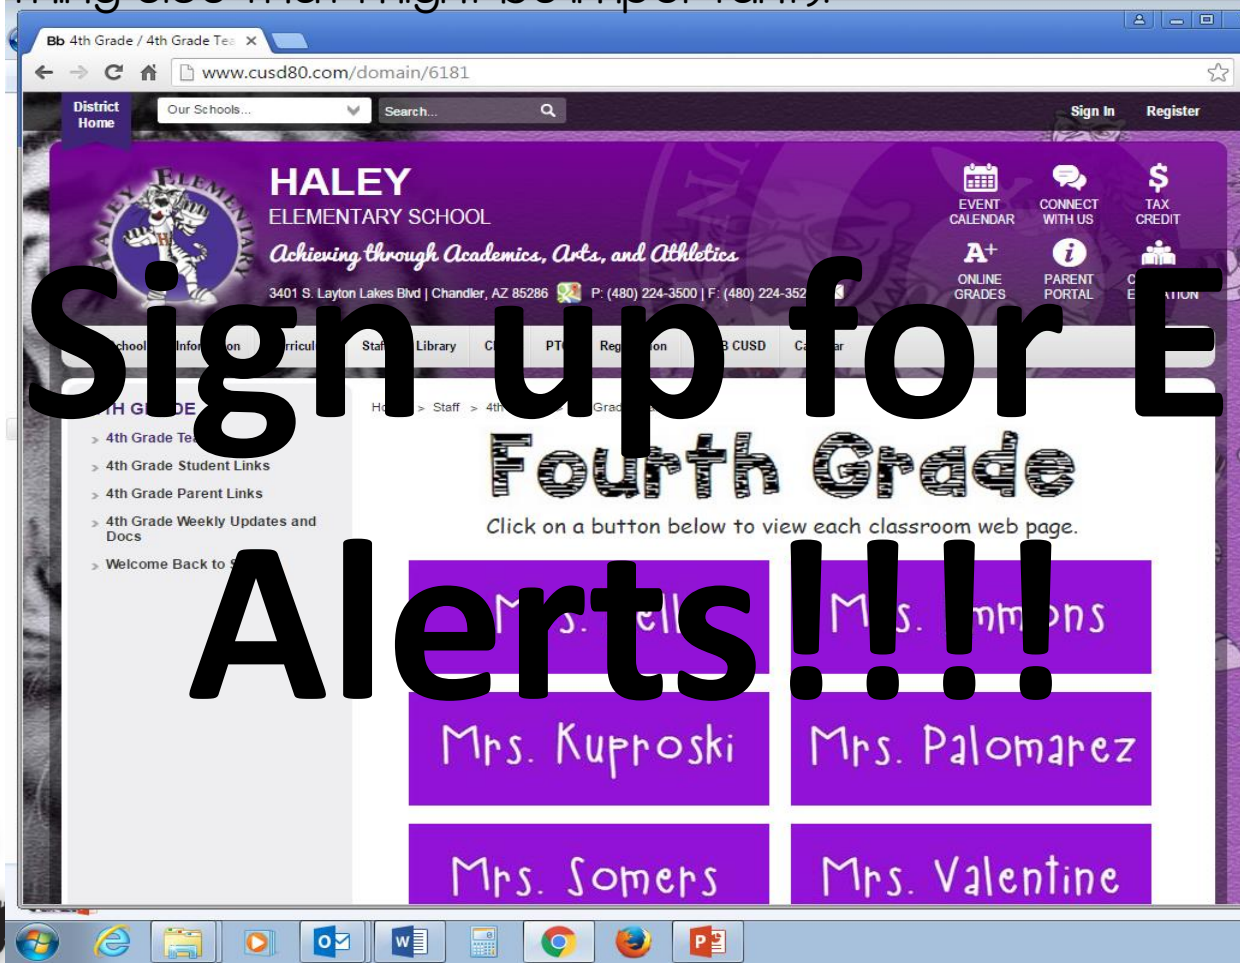

- Geography
- History & people of the Americas

With the new standards, Science and Social Studies will be taught together in integrated units of study
