Review of the Week Before

This week we focused on science in conjunction with our EQ: What kinds of things do scientists study?

We reviewed letters and sounds, as well as segmenting and blending all the sounds in a word, and identifying and changing the first, middle, and last sound. We learned about a new word family, -en.

We practiced more with statement and question sentences, specifically focusing on conventions (Starting with a capital and ending with a question mark for a question). The sight words we learned this week were—new, said, then.

In math, we completed our Subtraction unit with subtracting to take apart 10 and making Mr. Minus Sign.

This week we also conducted a class experiment and learned about the Scientific Method. We gathered several different objects and tested whether or not they would sink or float. (see picture)
