

Anticipatory Guide- Branches of Government

Before | After

Directions: Mark true or false for each response. Start with the “Before” column. After we learn about the subject material, mark in the “After” column to see if your answer has changed.

1. President Trump has all power to do whatever he wants.
2. There are other groups who are in control in the government, but President Trump has the most power of any of them.
3. Congress gets along with President Trump and does what he wants.
4. The Supreme Court makes the laws for our nation.
5. If President Trump does not agree to a law, there is no way that the law can go into effect.
6. The Supreme Court is a part of our government but does not have much power.
7. There are 3 main parts of the federal government.
8. The Supreme Court’s job is to interpret (or explain) what laws mean.
9. There are 2 senators for every state, no matter how big or small the state is.
10. There is the same amount of representatives for each state, no matter how small or big the state is.