

Comparison activities

FDR's New Deal programs

Directions: Use your notes that were taken yesterday on the 3 goals of Roosevelt's New Deal programs to do the following:

A. Choose which goal of the New Deal the scenario most would indicate (relief, recovery, or reform). B. Explain how Roosevelt's New Deal programs could be compared to that particular scenario. A sample has been completed for you.

Example: The New Deal was like a professional counselor.

A. Which goal? Recovery B. Explanation of comparison: Going to a professional counselor is one way that people begin to heal or recover from various struggles or addictions they are facing. Roosevelt wants the economy to experience healing because businesses were not doing well and people were out of jobs.

1. The New Deal was like Tylenol or Aspirin.

A. Which goal? _____ B. Explanation of comparison:

2. The New Deal was like a house being remodeled.

A. Which goal? _____ B. Explanation of comparison:

3. The New Deal was like a good night's sleep.

A. Which goal? _____ B. Explanation of comparison:
