Personal culture assignment

January 18, 2019

Part of our focus for the Immigration unit will include a discussion of Personal Culture. For this discussion, I am asking that each student bring an object, photo, symbol, or anything else that represents some aspect of your own culture, family history, or personal roots. Another way to describe this is to think of some part of your personal history that has been significant in making you the person you are today.

Please reflect on this, decide what to bring and what story to tell, and be ready to share something of your personal culture and/or family history to the class. You do not need to write anything about your object, but simply bring that to school and be ready to share with the class how that relates to your personal culture. This will be due next Thursday January 24th!
