

RECORD RETENTION

Arizona State Library, Archives and Public
Records

What are RECORDS?

- A.R.S. 41-1350 – Records are: All books, papers, maps, photographs or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics... made or received by any governmental agency in pursuance of law or in connection with the transaction of public business preserved or appropriate for preservation by the agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the government, or because the informational and historical value of the data therein.....
- Records as defined are the property of the State of Arizona not the property of the political subdivision

E- Records

- E-records are those that reside in electronic computer systems or other electronic media
- Arizona Electronic Transaction Act authorizes state and local governments to establish electronic/digital systems for conducting their business

Non-Records Include

- Reading file copies of correspondence
- Tickler, follow up
- Identical duplicate copies of all documents maintained in the same file
- Extra copies of printed materials
- Superseded copies of published manuals and directives
- Catalogs, trade journals, magazines
- Information copies of correspondence
- Non-records are not to be mixed with records in the same file

Be Careful

- From the standpoint of both state and Federal Court Rules of Evidence, there is little if any difference between records and copies of records. During the discovery process of a civil suit, the non-record copies are just as discoverable as evidence in the original records.

Arizona School Districts

- Have clearly defined requirements on which documents are records and how long they should be kept and methods of disposal
- Destroying public records without lawful authority is a Class 4 Felony

Keeping Records

- Per ARS 41-1351, the time periods listed in the retention schedules are both the minimum and maximum time records may be kept. Keeping records for a time period other than their approved retention period is illegal. Records required for ongoing or foreseeable official proceeding such as audits, lawsuits or investigations must be retained until released from official proceedings. If it is believed that special circumstances warrant that records should be kept longer or shorter times than the time period listed in these schedules, a change in retention period can be considered by contacting the Records Management Division.

Chandler Process

- There is a master record retention schedule (Exhibit A) maintained in the property control office that provides the following:
 - CUSD Name for Record if different than description
 - Required disposition timeline
 - Whether document is paper or electronic
 - If a department is going to keep the records in their office for a period of time prior to sending to the warehouse
 - Responsible Person
 - Request to maintain records beyond the archive of library requirement
 - Each Superintendent is responsible for ensuring that their departments are maintaining the correct documents.

Chandler's New Procedures

1. Each department/site is responsible for sending their records to the warehouse
2. Only required records are to be sent to the warehouse
3. The boxes must only contain records. (no mixing with non records). Whenever possible, try to send full boxes.
4. Bankers boxes are not required, empty boxes from paper reams are acceptable
5. A department may keep records in their offices for a period of time prior to sending them to the warehouse as long as it is noted on the master record retention schedule maintained in the property control.

Chandler's Procedure

6. Each department must send their boxes with a label that matches the CUSD record retention list. A template will be provided by property control and available on line. Colored labels can be ordered from Robert Mertz at Property Control. (Exhibit B)
7. More than one record can be in a box, however all records in a box must have the same disposition length.
8. Each department will develop their own method to track records sent to the warehouse. (Sample Log – Exhibit C)
9. All records must be disposed of by Property Control.
