Listening and Speaking

PROFICIENCY LEVEL DESCRIPTORS

Pre-Emergent

A student at this level has no ability or a very limited ability to communicate in English.

Emergent

A student at this level is able to apply limited knowledge of English conventions. The student is able to produce short phrases and simple sentences with linguistic support.

Basic

A student at this level is able to apply knowledge of English conventions by using simple and compound sentences with errors. The student is attempting self-corrections. The student uses sentence structures which include regular subjects and simple and progressive tenses.

Low Intermediate

A student at this level is able to apply knowledge of English conventions by using simple and compound sentences, and attempting complex sentences. The student uses sentence structures which include common regular subjects and simple, progressive, and present perfect verb tenses. Students are still acquiring irregular subject and verb forms.

High Intermediate

A student at this level is able to apply his or her knowledge of English conventions by using simple, compound, and complex sentences. The student uses sentence structures which include common regular subjects and irregular subjects, and simple, progressive, and present perfect tenses.

Pre-Emergent

The student at this level has no ability to comprehend text independently read in English. The student may be able to distinguish between letters and words. The student may be able to understand universal symbols and graphics associated with text. The student recognizes that spoken words are represented by written language.

Emergent

The student at this level has a limited ability to comprehend text independently read in English. The student is developing phonemic awareness and decodes words using letter-sound knowledge. The student can read and comprehend text with repetitive, predictable patterns. The student's fluency will impede comprehension.

Basic

The student at this level has a limited ability to decode and comprehend text independently read in English. The student relies on visuals, organizational features, and contextual clues to comprehend text. The student is developing phonemic awareness and uses sound/symbol relationships and syllabication rules to decode. The student's fluency may impede comprehension. From text read aloud, the student can identify key information elicited from the teacher.

Low Intermediate

The student at this level has the ability to decode and comprehend text independently read in English. The student relies on visuals, organizational features, and contextual clues to comprehend a variety of fiction and nonfiction genres. The student uses sound/symbol relationships and syllabication rules to decode. The student's fluency may impede comprehension. The student can identify key information and details elicited from the teacher.

High Intermediate

The student at this level has the ability to comprehend text by reading fluently in English. The student relies on organizational features and contextual clues to comprehend a variety of fiction and nonfiction genres. The student uses sound/symbol relationships and syllabication rules to decode. The student can identify key information and details in text.

Pre-Emergent

The student at this level has a limited ability to write in English. The student recognizes that spoken words are represented by written language. The student relays short messages by drawing, using imitative writing, or dictating key words to an adult.

Emergent

The student at this level has a limited ability to write in English. The student recognizes that spoken words are represented by written language. The student relays short messages by drawing, using imitative writing, or dictating key words to an adult. The student may be able to write letters of the alphabet and first name with a capital letter.

Basic

The student at this level has a limited ability to write in English. The student recognizes that spoken words are represented by written language. The student relays short messages by drawing and using sound/symbol relationships to write words and phrases. The student organizes writing from left to right, top to bottom with spacing between words. Errors in writing conventions impede reader's comprehension.

Low Intermediate

The student at this level has a limited ability to write in English. The student applies sound/symbol relationships to spell single-syllable and high frequency words. The student uses basic writing conventions to write sentences, paragraphs, poems and a variety of functional text. The student uses correct subject/verb agreement in a variety of writing applications. Errors in writing conventions may impede reader's comprehension.

High Intermediate

The student at this level has the ability to write in English. The student applies sound/symbol relationships to spell single-syllable and high frequency words. The student uses writing conventions to write one or more paragraphs in a variety of writing applications. The student uses correct subject/verb agreement in a variety of sentence types. Errors in writing conventions will not impede reader's comprehension.

ELL Stage III: Grades 3-5

Language Strand

- The Language Strand is comprised of the grammar and vocabulary skills that ELLs need to acquire at each proficiency level.
- The Language Strand will drive the instruction in grammar and vocabulary. The time allocations of the SEI models, created by the Arizona ELL Task Force, reflect this instruction.
- The Standard English Conventions standard focuses on acquiring the knowledge of the grammatical structures of the English language.
- The vocabulary standard focuses on acquiring general, academic, and content vocabulary, while understanding word relationships and pragmatics.
- The Listening and Speaking, Reading, and Writing Domains provide performance indicators for the application of the grammar and vocabulary skills.
