Our Week at a Glance

Math: Students identified even and odd numbers and factors and products, labeled a number line with whole numbers, fractions, and mixed numbers, and measured line segments using sixteenths of an inch.

Reading: Students read "Bat Loves the Night" and answered questions about the story.

Writing: Students wrote paragraphs about bats using information from this week's story and sentences with compound predicates.

Grammar: Students learned about action and being verbs.

Social Science: We started a unit on Arizona's First People.
